The Origins of Olde English Pub Names

Enter the DRAGON...

The OUROBOROS is an ancient symbol depicting a serpent or dragon eating its own tail. The ouroboros entered Western tradition via ancient Egyptian iconography and the Greek magical tradition. It was adopted as a symbol in Gnosticism and Hermeticism and most notably in ALCHEMY.

Ancient Egypt – the Tomb of Tutankhamun

One of the earliest known ouroboros motifs is found in the Enigmatic Book of the Netherworld, an ancient Egyptian funerary text in KV62, the tomb of Tutankhamun, in the 14th century BCE.

SUN and MOON symbolism is a frequent theme in Alchemical texts.

The word 'DRAGON' is 13th century.

'DRAGON' entered the English language in the early 13th century from Old French word, 'DRAGON'.

ANDROGynous, however, is a much older word – from Latin androgynus, from Greek androgynos "hermaphrodite, male and female in one; womanish man".

ANDROGynous – a mixed up DRAGON.

Most interestingly, it requires very little or no translation in a significant number of languages – a UNIVERSAL word of sorts.

ANDROGynous - a word that loses nothing in translation.

The definition of CATHOLIC – COMPREHENSIVE, UNIVERSAL.

The suggestion of this post is that DRAGONS are used as symbolism for a 'SUPERIOR' monARCHi-cal HYBRID ANDROGynous ROYAL BLOODLINE descended from the EGYPTIAN PHaraohs.

After all, the ancient Egyptian OSIRIS myth is all about ISIS conceiving HORUS without a PHallus – the original immaculate conception.

HORUS – the WIDOW's SON.

Christianity is merely a continuation of the worship of these HYBRID ANDROGynous ROYAL BLOODLINES.

JESUS conceived of a VIRGIN BIRTH.

DRAG ACTS

The term “DRAG” refers to the performance of exaggerated masculinity, femininity, or other forms of gender expression, usually for entertainment purposes. Drag usually involves cross-dressing. A drag queen is someone who performs femininity and a drag king is someone who performs masculinity.

FOOTNOTES – some interesting French History on the Principality D’ORANGE

1633 Map of the Principality of Orange (with south at the top)

The Carolingian Counts D’ORANGE had their origin in the 8th century, and the fief passed into the family of the lords of Baux. The Baux counts of Orange became fully independent with the breakup of the Kingdom of Burgundy after 1033. In 1163 Orange was raised to a principality, as a fief of the Holy Roman Empire.

MonDRAGON

Located between Bollene and Orange. The village extends along the Gres hill, and also onto the opposite bank of the Mondragon river, next to the motorway.

Strolling around MonDRAGON, you will discover that even today there are still the remains of its medieval ramparts within the village.

The Chateau de MonDRAGON was built by Lord DRAGONet in the 12th Century.

The Present day village of Mondragon – in the courtyard in front of the mairie, stands an imposing coloured dragon. This carnival-like animal is a reference to the local legend about a dragon.

It is said that this legendary beast lived in the cliffs above the village and haunted the banks of the Rhône..

You will also find statuettes of the dragon in the village shops. Old people in the village will be only too happy to tell you chilling tales about the life of the dragon in Mondragon...

The title “Prince D’ORANGE” was created in 1163 by the Emperor Frederick Barbarossa, by elevating the county of Orange to a principality, in order to bolster his support in that area in his conflict with the Papacy. The title and land passed to the French noble houses of Baux, in 1173, and of Chalons, in 1393, before arriving with Rene of Nassau in 1530. The principality then passed to a Dutch nobleman, Rene’s cousin William (known as “the Silent”), in 1544.
